Oksana Fursa

I prefer to live in color!

My style was radically changed by the war!

Shattering the naive and folk art illusions with its bony hand, it harshly thrust me into the sarcastic world of expressionism!

In 2024, Oksana Fursa began working on a series of war-period works known worldwide as "RUST".

This series became the most vivid testimony to the artist's talent and creativity, as she developed a unique technique of cultivating natural copper rust on linen canvas, which she then used as the foundation for creating retrospective paintings capturing the pivotal moments of Russia's war against Ukraine.
